

Sourcing/Financing the Right Inventory

You can't sell them if you don't have them! Getting the right inventory at competitive prices remains a major industry challenge. How has online sourcing technology changed vehicle remarketing? Where can you get accurate information about the value of vehicles? If you are using online technology how can you finance these acquisitions? The competition for the best vehicles remains high so you need to know all the new ways to source, acquire, and finance inventory. It all starts with the right inventory so don't miss this session! The market has changed so you need to change with it.

---